50x Leverage Time. I chose these words because the time you spend at Avalanche's Innovation House can either be the most productive period of your year or just a remote work session. Thankfully, it's actually quite difficult not to extract extreme value from the experience. If you choose one big goal, it will be very hard not to accomplish it during your time at Innovation House.

Supportive, vibrant, and healthy. That's how I felt living in the house. The organization created an amazingly well-cared-for experience that supported the team's needs. The teams were in sync, fully engaged in working on the projects. It was such a healthy environment, with great food, positive vibes, and immense respect for all the members.

Inspiring, enriching, unforgettable... It was a truly enriching experience where we learned a lot from other groups of founders and builders, as well as everyone in the house. This helped us grow as individuals and as team members, and it significantly advanced our product in a very short time.
