* The mark is registered in standard characters and reads GENERAL Inc, without a full stop. The registered proprietor's corporate name is styled GENERAL Inc. with a full stop; the mark and the corporate styling differ, and each is reproduced as its own document has it.

* Three of the designated goods appear on the face of the certificate, which notes that the remainder are stated on an attached sheet. Continuation sheet 1 supplies the fourth and then states that the remainder is blank. All four are listed above.

* The Japanese original prints both the Japanese era date and the Gregorian date for the filing and registration dates. The Gregorian dates above are those printed on the original.

* This is a complete English translation of the original Japanese certificate. In the event of any discrepancy, the original Japanese document prevails.
